The New Standards Defining COE Excellence—For You and Your Members

Quality, access, experience, and cost. For 15 years, these have been the core pillars of Centers of Excellence (COE) networks. But today, those pillars aren't enough. New standards have emerged; COE networks have evolved. Value-based principles are now foundational, and differentiators like appropriateness of care, upfront transparency, provider accountability, and billing integrity set leading networks apart. These benchmarks apply not only to surgical care, but also to newer COE categories like cancer treatment and substance use disorder. In today's landscape, these aren't optional add-ons—they're essential. They significantly impact outcomes and value—and your members deserve nothing less

Pioneering Excellence for Surgery, Cancer Care, and Substance Use Treatment

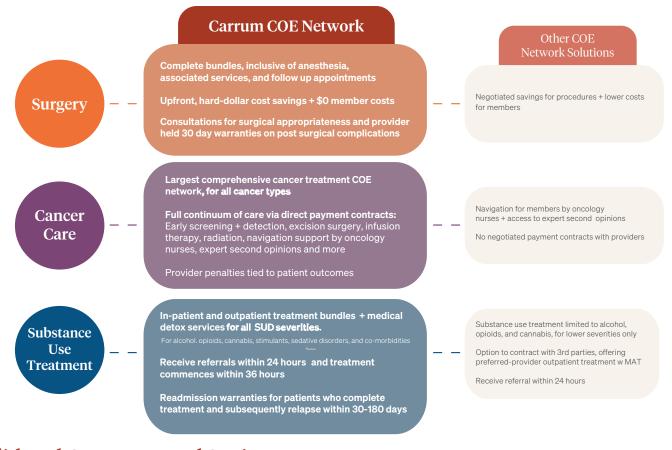

Unmatched Value in the Most Complex and Costly Areas of Specialty Care

For bariatric, muscoloskeletal, and cardiovascular surgeries + other surgical procedures.

For all cancer types. For nearly every substance use disorder, across all severities. The Carrum Difference is striking.

Carrum Health doesn't just surpass what other COE networks offer—we redefine what a COE network must provide.

This is what today's standards of excellence in specialty care means for you and your members.

Validated Outcomes and Savings

"Our analysis of Carrum Health's market leading COE platform shows that both employers and patients can see immediate and significant savings on completed surgeries, while getting high-quality care from the top providers around the country."
